

Anne Kemp – Chair

Dr Anne Kemp is an Atkins Fellow, and Director, responsible for BIM Strategy and Implementation across the UK, and part of the Global BIM Strategy team, reporting to the Group Executive. She has been working in the industry for 25 years, delivering information to where it is needed for informed and intelligent decision making.

Anne is leading the formation of the UK BIM Alliance, involving over 50 organisations including a coalition of the institutions, BIM4 Groups and BIM Regions, and with backing from senior leaders across the industry. The Alliance is gearing up for handback to industry, from the UK Government's BIM Task Group, of leadership for implementation of BIM Level 2 across UK industry, in October 2016. Anne is currently Executive Vice-Chair of buildingSmart UK&I, and serves on the International Council.

She is one of the Technical Authors and Convenor for ISO19650 – which is lifting the BS/PAS1192 suite (on which the UK Government's level 2 BIM mandate is based) to ISO and will be adopted by CEN. Anne is spear-heading negotiations across the international community in order to gain consensus around the standard. Anne continues to serve on the Steering Group for the BS/PAS1192 suite, and sits on B555, and the ISO Task Force to develop strategy around standards for BIM, Geospatial and Digital Engineering.

Anne served two years as Chair for AGI between 2012 and 2014, during which the organisation underwent a comprehensive re-structuring and branding, and launched the highly successful Geo Big 5 series. She is the Chief Editor for AGI's Foresight Report 2020, which was launched in November 2015, to wide acclaim, reaching 5000 downloads within 2 months, and is frequently asked to do keynotes on future direction of the industry. She is Chair of ICE's BIM Action Group, and of BIM4Infrastructure UK. She has been part of the UK Government BIM Task Group helping the departments on their journey to implement BIM, in particular Highways Agency and Environment Agency, and currently is Strategic Advisor for HS2 and Eight2o (the alliance for Thames Water) on Digital Engineering.

Anne recently graduated as a prize-winner for her MSc in Coaching and Behavioural Change at Henley Business School, focused on enabling sustained collaborative working.
